

Gabriella van Rij Releases With All My Might, Third Edition September 2014

Due to popular demand, Gabriella van Rij, international kindness activist and author and a frequent anti-bullying expert on various network shows and news channels, has released the third edition of her acclaimed and candid memoir, With All My Might, which recounts her journey from a Pakistani orphanage at the age of three into a diplomat's family in the Netherlands.

Young Gabriella's struggles with intolerance, bullying, racism, and feeling like she did not belong followed her throughout most of the first part of her life but are narrated in a brave and wise voice, empowering readers as they watch her journey toward becoming the woman she is today.

“Gabriella was one of the most interesting and articulate guests that I have interviewed. (And my guests have ranged from Benjamin Netanyahu to the late Betty Ford.),” says Gloria Greer, known for her television show Conversations With Gloria Greer. “Gabriella’s book With All My Might is an example of how a person can succeed in life with intelligence, determination, and pride despite obstacles. Her story is fascinating and so is she.”

This book is a must-read for social activists, those considering adoption, and for anyone looking for a story that touches on the universal topics of belonging and family.

In September 2014, Gabriella published a part memoir, part self help book for children, I Can Find My Might, which is a resource for students, parents, and educators and anyone dealing with bullying, racism, intolerance, and not belonging. Her anti-bullying documentary, Our Silence Is Complicity, will also launch this fall, and she plans to visit three schools a day (elementary, middle, and high school) across the nation to give her “Dare to Be Kind®” message at school assemblies in English and Spanish.
